Maverick is a collection of colour. Shades dip into fashion and delve into the African landscape. The new fabrics include a sharp yellow, deep plum, smart navy and the highlight is green in both classic forest and contemporary neon.

'Maverick takes de Le Cuona in unexpected colour directions appealing to a more modern lifestyle. It shows how we do colour. The beauty of an intense colour placed with naturals. Watching the relationships form between contrasting shades. An eccentric spirit lies behind the new palette, but the colourways are designed to work with our stable of classics.'

The colours meet and mix beautifully with textures changing and breaking up the shades.

BULLDOG

Like its iconic namesake, Bulldog is fabric big on character, available in one natural colourway. This linen is finished with a pure white paint to give it a unique texture and is then stone washed for softness. It is suitable for upholstery, curtaining and walling.

Spitfire is a distinctive herringbone in contrasting colours, inspired by flight formation. It effortlessly combines linen with chunky wool to create a weighty fluid weave with a gravelly surface. As at home in a traditional flying club as a contemporary city apartment or country house. Available in ten colourways, from the restrained to the rebellious.

Composition: 55% Linen, 31% Wool, 12% Viscose, 2% PA

RUGBY

This multi-coloured stripe updates the classic rugby shirt worn by mavericks of the game. The colourways of this vertical stripe range from naturals to indigo with terracotta. Rugby is an Italian linen and is pre-shrunk to give it a tight, dry and structured handle.
